A western NC native, Mason Isgrig believes that a mortgage is a strategy, not a product, and requires precise detail when planning out how to build wealth for his clients. Mason received his B.S in Economics and Finance from Centre College while participating in the football and track field team. His past work experience interweaves his technical efficiencies from the engineering firm Bechtel as well as his commercial and DSCR experience with companies in Austin, TX. Licensed in multiple states, Mason specializes in renovation and Investor Cashflow (DSCR) mortgages and enjoys working with first-time home buyers to prepare them to make one of the most significant investments.
